

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides methods for extracting anti-apoptotic compositions from various protein isolates and/or lipid mixtures with aqueous solutions not containing organic solvents. The compositions extracted by the methods can be used for a variety of purposes, including for therapeutic, nutritional and medicinal purposes.